Visiting Assistant Professor Opening - Biostatistics

The Joseph J. Zilber School of Public Health, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, invites applications for a non-tenure-track Visiting Assistant Professor position in Biostatistics that will begin on August 20, 2018. The successful candidate will be expected to teach graduate-level Biostatistics courses; mentor graduate students; and develop or expand their own research program. This appointment is a 9-month position with a two-year contract and a competitive salary and benefits package.

Required Qualifications: Doctoral degree or equivalent in Biostatistics or related disciplines by August 20, 2018.

Preferred Qualifications: (1) On-going research in Biostatistics. (2) Proven ability/strong potential to teach graduate-level Biostatistics courses and mentor graduate students. (3) Research interests in one or both areas of Clinical Trials and Bayesian Statistics. (4) Teaching interests in one or both areas of Clinical Trials and Bayesian Statistics.

The University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee is the flagship urban campus of the University of Wisconsin System, with over 28,000 students. As the only accredited school of public health in the state of Wisconsin, the Zilber School fosters a uniquely interdisciplinary environment and offers opportunities for collaboration across the University. Research interests of current Biostatistics faculty include GWAS, statistical genetics, pharmacogenomics, public health bioinformatics, survival analysis, causal inference, high-dimensional data analysis, biomedical informatics, risk prediction for chronic diseases, and applied statistics for population health and social and behavioral health sciences. Other faculty in the Zilber School are involved in research that spans life-course analyses, maternal and child health, epigenetics, developmental neurobiology and immunotoxicology, environmental toxicology, social and environmental epidemiology, health systems research, immigrant health, and socioeconomic health policies.

Application Process: This is a continuous recruitment. Review of applications will begin February 5, 2018, and continue until the position is filled. Applications received after February 5, 2018, may not receive full consideration. All applications must be done online through the UWM Human Resources web site. To apply for this position, please use the following link, http://jobs.uwm.edu/postings/27029

All finalists for these positions will require a criminal records review consistent with the Wisconsin Fair Employment Act.

Learn more about the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee and the Joseph J. Zilber School of Public Health by visiting the home page at www.uwm.edu

For the UWM Campus Security report, see http://www.cleryact.uwm.edu or call the Office of Student Life at 414-229-4632 for a paper copy.

UWM is an AA/EEO employer. All qualified applications will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, or protected veteran status.